Question Marion Man As Suspect in Murder

SQUEEZED IN BY ATHLETIC EQUIPMENT, the Harding High School band rehearses in the school gymnasium, where bad acoustics and space limitations hamper practice sessions. Chairs and music racks must be set up before each practice session and taken down afterward to make room for gym classes.

IMPROVISED CURTAINS are hung along the walls of the Harding High gym to absorb sound during rehearsals of the band and orchestra. They may be seen at the top of the photograph above. The curtains do not keep the sound from reaching a study hall above the gym.

Support of Bond Issue Urged

Band and Orchestra Must Practice in Gym

This is one of a series of articles, illustrated with pictures, showing the urgent need for passing at the May 8 election a $2,900,000 school bond issue. The money will be used for a new senior high school and improvements to other city schools.

Harding High School sophomores do not get physical education training any more.

This is a result of overcrowded conditions at Harding High school officials said.

To give sophomores physical education, the school band and orchestra would have to be discontinued.

Since the abandonment of Central Junior High School, the former rehearsal place for these musical groups, the only place left for them to practice is Harding High's gymnasium. To allow them to practice, the sophomore classes had to be eliminated from the already fully-loaded gym schedule.

Echoes Bad

To hear themselves play in this undersized room, band and orchestra members have to have gym mats placed on two walls and heavy drapes on the other two to absorb sound. Nothing can be done about the sound which booms off the ceiling, nor the students in the study hall above who must try to study against the noise.

Both band and orchestra must set up chairs and music racks before each practice and remove afterwards for the gym classes to follow. This has to be done twice daily, once for each organization.

Figuring out how to get the 85 band musicians and 45 orchestra musicians seated in the gym has been a major planning job.

Music, Art Wing

An important part of the new $3,000,000 senior high school planned for Marion is a music and art wing. If the $2,900,000 bond issue is passed at the polls May 8 these high school musical organizations will have the acoustically correct practice rooms they need so badly, well away from classrooms where they will not interfere with classes.

Storage space for band and orchestra instruments will be provided. They have to be stored now in the gymnasium balcony.

Fire Destroys Sinclair Bulk Station at Troy

TROY, O., April 27—(AP)—An explosion set fire to a 72,000-gallon gasoline bulk station early today and the flames for a time threatened a three-block industrial area.

The fire was extinguished after it destroyed a storage building, garage and five thanks of the Sinclair company plus a residence.

Firemen saved an adjoining Shell bulk station with storage tanks containing an estimated 61,000 gallons of gasoline.

The Sinclair company lost four 15,000-gallon tanks and one 12,000-gallon tank.

No one was injured.

The explosion jarred this city and wakened many of its 10,600 residents.

The Sinclair plant, along the New York Central tracks, occupied an area of about 75 by 200 feet.

Firemen from Troy and nearby communities kept a steady stream of water on the four adjacent tanks of the Sinclair Refining Co. and nearby buildings which were threatened.

For awhile, fireman could not get within a block of the area because of the intense heat and the danger of other explosions.

Troy is 20 miles north of Dayton and is the site of several small industries which manufacture kitchen ware, furniture and arc welders.

Another General Quits To Rejoin MacArthur

TOKYO, April 27—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, a MacArthur man from the Bataan and Corregidor days, has asked for Army retirement so he can rejoin General MacArthur.

He is the second of two-star general rank to follow MacArthur in the five-star controversy with the White House.

"I expect to join him and offer what modest services I can render," Willoughby said today.

BURGLARS NOT PARTICULAR

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 27—(AP)—Robbers couldn't get the unopened safe at the Wilks Chevrolet Co. in Amsterdam, O., through the door last night. They left it there and stole a 1949 sedan instead.

Last Allied Units Leave North Korea

Break Contact Full Length of Front; Reds Within 11 Mi. of Seoul

TOKYO, April 27—(AP)—United Nations troops fell back on both ends of the 100-mile Korean front today.

In the west they rolled back through Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul.

In the east they abandoned Yanggu and pulled back below the 38th Parallel. This was the last Allied hold in Red Korea on the active fighting front.

In both withdrawals U.N. forces broke contact with Reds. The Allies also broke contact south of Hwachon reservoir, and withdrew so rapidly a vast no-man's land was created on this east-central sector.

Little contact was reported all along the front. But U.N. troops beat back attacks in the center aimed at roads leading to Seoul, and in the extreme west, Allied forces fought a stubborn delaying action 14 miles northwest of Seoul.

On the northern approaches the Chinese were about 10 miles from the old South Korean capital.

Van Fleet Confident

But Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U S. Eighth Army commander, expressed confidence they could be halted north of the Han river.

The Han borders Seoul on the south.

However, the general did not mention the war shattered city in his statement.

"We are withdrawing in order," Van Fleet said on an unheralded frontline tour. "We are keeping units intact. We are taking a tremendous toll of the enemy while enduring only minimum losses."

As the Reds neared Seoul, civilians streamed out of the city to the south. A South Korean government spokesman said 200,000 had already fled across the Han. Another 200,000 were expected to follow, leaving about 100,000 in the city which has lost military significance to either side.

It was a familiar flight. Communist troops twice have occupied and twice abandoned Seoul. Friday they drove on it for the third time.

The force of their drive appeared to be weakening, Eighth Army headquarters said Friday. It reported U.N. troops in their path fought "a stubborn delaying action."

Five Red divisions hammered toward the South Korean capital from the north. Some were only 11 miles away, near Uijongbu.

Others were closer on the Munsan-Seoul road to the west.

Gain Up to 30 Miles

In some sectors the Reds had gained 30 miles since they launched their spring offensive Sunday But they paid a terrific price in lives for each mile gained. The U.N. command estimated 35,000 Reds were killed in four and a half days.

"They're spending people like we spend ammunition," one officer said.

A single American artillery division in the west fired more than 30,000 rounds—about $1,500,000 worth—in two days.

Allied losses were described as negligible. But there were losses. The U.N. withdrawal was a series of heroic fights.

"Homecoming" Celebration

Milwaukee Crowds Greet MacArthur

CHICAGO, April 27—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur headed for Milwaukee and another huge civic celebration today after a Chicago demonstration climaxed by his speech defending his policy in Korea.

MacArthur, dismissed from his Far Eastern command two weeks ago by President Truman, in a fighting speech last night called for a "positive and realistic" Korean policy "to stop through strength this slaughter of America's sons."

Milwaukee planned a huge reception for the five-star general. Some 700,000 persons from all parts of Wisconsin were ready to greet MacArthur, who still calls Milwaukee his home town.

BULLETIN

MILWAUKEE, April 27 — (AP)—The city Douglas MacArthur calls home welcomed the five-star general today for the first time in 39 years. His arrival climaxed a four-hour motor trip from Chicago. The general's motorcade, greeted by wailing sirens and hooting factory whistles and cheered by thousands lining the streets, pulled up at the historic Plankinton House in downtown Milwaukee at 11:55 a.m. (CST).

MacArthur, on his three-hour auto trip to Milwaukee, planned brief stops at Fort Sheridan and the Great Lakes Naval Training Center. Towns along the route—on the shoreline of Lake Michigan—were to greet the general. He planned no speeches.

Leaves at 7:33 A.M.

The MacArthur party left the Stevens Hotel at 7:33 a.m. after a crowd of some 1,800 persons milled about them offering congratulations and good wishes. The general rode in the lead car of a motorcade which will drive along the north shore to the Wisconsin city. In the car with the general were Mayor Martin H. Kennelly and Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney. Mayor Kennelly planned to ride as far as Evanston, the first northern suburb. Arthur and Mrs. MacArthur rode in another car.

His speech last night in Soldier's Field highlighted the biggest and noisiest celebration in Chicago's history.

It climaxed his rousing welcome to Chicago, whose millions had cheered and acclaimed him yesterday afternoon during a 23-mile ride from the Midway Airport to the Loop.

Defending his policy In Korea, MacArthur told the Soldier Field throng:

"Our losses there (Korea) in ratio to the men committed have already reached staggering proportions," MacArthur declared. "These losses are progressively mounting by thousands each month. . . "

The general, speaking from a spotlighted platform in chilly, windswept Soldier Field, said that "the advent of war with Red China" has created "a policy vacuum heretofore unknown to war."

The crowd in the huge lake front stadium—estimated at some 50,000—interrupted the general several times during his speech, cheering and applauding.

Audience Surprised

MacArthur's address, which had been billed as "not a major policy talk," caught his audience by surprise.

It was a fighting speech all the way. And the general, in his 12-minute talk, declared "that although my public life is now closed," . . . he would continue "to advocate a positive and realistic policy for Korea, designed to bring the war to an early and honorable end."

The general was interrupted by an outburst of "no! no!" after he had declared "my public life is now closed." When he resumed, smiling, he told the crowd: "It is closed."

And Mrs. MacArthur and their son, Arthur, seated on the platform, shook their heads in agreement with the general as the crowd shouted "no! no!."

Taft Speaks Out Against Appeasement

Against Congress Enforcing MacArthur Proposal, However

WASHINGTON, April 27 — (AP)— Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today he and other Republicans don't want to tell military leaders how to run the Korean war but do want to prevent "appeasement" of Red China.

Taft, who told the Senate yesterday the Joint Chiefs of Staff are under the administration's thumb, said in an interview he and others of like views don't believe Congress should try to enforce the military strategy proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"I'm interested in stopping any appeasement of the Chinese Communists," the Ohio Senator declared. "I don't believe Congress can tell the Joint Chiefs of Staff how to run the war—that they should bomb Manchurian bases, for instance.

"But I do think Congress can tell the administration what it ought not to do in the way of appeasing the Chinese Communists."

Expressed Views

The Ohio Senator, who heads his party's policy committee, expressed his views on the objectives of a forthcoming investigation into President Truman's firing of MacArthur.

The Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees will begin next Thursday, with testimony from MacArthur, an investigation of the policy differences which led Mr. Truman to fire

$180,000 Building

Kroger Co. To Open New Marion Store Tuesday

The Kroger Co. will open its new $180,000 self-service food department store at 9 a.m. Tuesday, May 1, at 272 South Prospect street, just south of the present Kroger store.

Fronting 66 feet on South Prospect street, the new store is 155 feet deep and of modern one-story masonry construction with a buff-brick exterior.

Completed this week at a cost of $100,000, the building has been equipped by the Kroger Co. with fixtures costing $80,000. Ground was broken for it last May 15.

The building was built by the J. H. Butt Co., Inc., of Chillicothe for a group of investors represented by Robert Weiler, president of the Robert Weiler Co., Columbus realtors.

Mr. Weiler, whose organization purchased the sites of the former Midtown Chevrolet Parking lot and the Ray Dejninger properties, on which the new building stands, have rented the just-completed structure to the Kroger Co. on a long-term lease.

The present Kroger store will close at the end of the day's business tomorrow and the new one will open Tuesday morning.

As soon as the new store is opened the removal of the present 10-year-old store building is scheduled to begin. It will be torn down to make way for a 150-car parking lot which will adjoin and serve the new store.

Byron P. Redman, Kroger branch manager at Columbus, today described the new store as Kroger's most modern food market in the middle west.

"We have designed this store to offer a one-stop shipping service convenient to pedestrian, bus and automobile traffic," he said.

Among the innovations in store equipment the new store will introduce here are check-out count-

Brehm Case Verdict Due Next Week

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—A federal court jury will try to decide next week whether Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R-Ohio) is guilty or innocent of charges he illegally accepted campaign contributions in 1948.

The 58-year-old congressman has been on trial for nearly two weeks, accused of receiving $1,140 in unlawful political donations from Mrs. Clara Soliday, a 74-year-old widow, and Mrs. Emma S. Craven when they worked for him.

Presentation of evidence was completed yesterday. Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews adjourned the trial until Monday. After arguments then, the jury of 10 men and two women will begin consideration of the case.

Crisis Prompts Churchill To Drop U. S. Trip

LONDON, April 27 — (AP) — Winston Churchill cancelled a planned trip to the United States today because of the British government crisis.

The Conservative opposition leader and wartime prime minister said in a letter to Harold E. Stassen, President of the University of Pennsylvania, that "events have happened which make it difficult for me" to speak at the university May 8.

Churchill apparently was referring to the upheaval in the labor government cabinet which many observers feel opens the possibility of a general election.

Marion G.I. Wounded In Korea Action

Pfc. James E. Jones, son of Mrs. Della Jones of 256 West Columbia street, was seriously wounded in action in Korea April 11.

Mrs. Jones received official notification of the wound today in a telegram from the War Department. No details were given.

Pfc. Jones, a veteran of five years' service, has been in Korea since February. At present he is receiving treatment at an Army hospital.

The 24-year-old soldier is a graduate of Harding High School, receiving his diploma after entering the service five years ago. His wife, the former Miss Edna Blevins, and two children, a son and a daughter, make their home with Pfc. Jones' mother at the Columbia street address.

Goal Topped In Bloodmobile Visit Here

128 Pints Given; Red Cross Unit At Power Shovel Today

Due to 40 walk-in donors persons who were not registered for the day but who responded when the need was urgent, the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross topped its quota when the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit visited Marion yesterday.

One hundred forty-five donors gave 128 pints of blood during the day at the headquarters at the First Presbyterian Church, three over the chapter's quota of 125.

The Bloodmobile unit will be at the Marion Power Shovel Co. plant today where a record number of 195 employes have signed up to give blood.

With the mobile unit from Columbus were six registered nurses, with Miss Martha Eckstein in charge. Local doctors working with the unit during the day were Dr. Floyd Yeager, Dr. Harry T. Hannig and Dr. J. G. McNamara.

A.F.L. Unions Back School Bond Issue

The Marion Central Labor Union at a meeting last night approved the $2,900,000 school bond issue. The organization is made up of representatives of all locals affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Representatives of some 32 locals pledged support to the issue to be voted on at the May 8 primary election.

The meeting was held at the union hall in the Cummin Building on East Center street.

Arrested in Richwood On Drunk Charge; Clothing Bloodstained

BULLETIN

The Marion suspect questioned in the Alter murder case will probably be released later today.

Lt. Ellsworth Beck of the Franklin County sheriff's department said shortly after noon the suspect had accounted for all his activities before his arrest last night.

Search continues for the second reported Marion suspect, Beck said.

A 26-year-old Erie Railroad section hand from Marion was being questioned by Columbus police today as a suspect in the brutal murder Wednesday of Mrs. Ruth Alter, 32, of Columbus.

Mrs. Alter, mother of an 18-day-old son, was beaten to death almost beyond recognition in her suburban West Side Columbus home shortly after 8:30 a.m.

The search for her slayer, which had covered all of Columbus and Franklin County, spread to Marion last night.

Franklin County authorities called Marion police and the sheriff's department to be on the lookout for a blood-stained man, who was reported to have dropped off a C. & O. freight train here after hitching a ride from Powell, north of Columbus, at about 9:15 p.m. Wednesday.

W. H. Smith of Columbus, fireman of the train, told Franklin County sheriff's deputies the man's clothes appeared bloody and his face was scratched and that he was so nervous he could hardly talk.

The man told Smith he was coming to Marion to get a section gang job on the railroad, Smith said.

Is It Same Man?

Whether the man who dropped off the train here and the Marion railroad man now in custody in Columbus are one and the same, Franklin County authorities are now trying to determine.

Here is how the arrest of the Marion man as a suspect came about:

At 5:15 p.m. yesterday the Marion man, wearing bloodstained blue overall pants and shirt and a soft felt hat, called a Radio Red Cab to the corner of Davids street and West Center at the Marion Power Shovel Co. parking lot.

He directed W. A. Hobson of 431 West Church street, the driver to take him to Richwood.

Hobson did. Upon arrival at Richwood he had Hobson stop at a bar and at a butcher soop. He fled from the latter place and ran down the street where he hid in a hay mow in a barn.

Hobson, who said the man was very drunk, called Charles L. Davis, Richwood marshal, to go with him to help him collect cab fare.

Surrenders To Marshal

Davis and the cab driver found the man in the barn haymow. He came down out of the mow and surrendered to Marshal Davis.

He paid his cab fare and Hobson returned to Marion.

Marshal Davis held him in custody today on a charge of drunkenness.

He removed him to the Richwood village jail. He went along quietly enough, the marshal said.

When he was booked at the Richwood jail, he gave a Marion address on Clinton street which has since proved to be false but his claim he was an Erie section hand has been proved true by the local railroad section office.

Marshal Davis called Marion police shortly after 7 p.m. last night and informed them of the arrest and gave a description of the suspect who in the meantime had refused to talk about his activities prior to his arrest.

Marion police informed Franklin County authorities who immediately called Sheriff Walter Gal-

Civil Service Commission Shakeup Asked

State Senate Bill Would Abolish Present Setup

COLUMBUS April 27—(AP)—A special state Senate committee has investigated operations of the state Civil Service commission and decided a shakeup in the top command is needed.

This developed yesterday in a report filed with the Senate by committee chairman C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens). The group asked abolition of the present two-member commission.

The report was accompanied by a bill sponsored by six senators, junking the present setup and creating in its stead a three-member commission and a new $9,000-a-year position of civil service administrator.

The measure, if approved by the House and signed by the governor, would wipe out the positions now held by the present civil service commissioners. They are chairman Carl Smith Kenton Democrat, and Gertrude Jones Findlay Republican.

The bill is sponsored by Sens. Mechem, Leo Blackburn (R-Scioto), William H Deddens (R-Hamilton), Richard V. James (R-Stark), Ralph Winter (R-Medina) and Joseph Bartunek (R-Cuyahoga), the Senate's minority leader.

These men served on the investigating committee which reported yesterday it had found evidence of failures in administration on the part of the present commission and weakness in the setup itself. They said:

"The present setup is outmoded and inefficient. From the dual standpoint of production of adequate personnel for state work and for the protection of those persons who wish to make a career of state employment, a change is necessary.

"We believe that a qualified and experienced personnel administrator, backed by a three-member, part-time commission, should be provided."

The committee's bill provides those named to the three-member commission shall serve six-year terms at $3,600 a year.

Hoover Describes MacArthur As Another St. Paul

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover says Gen. Douglas MacArthur is "a reincarnation of St Paul into a great general of the Army, who came out of the East."

The former President gave the description of MacArthur last night during unscheduled remarks at the annual dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Toastmaster Samuel H Kauffmann, president of the Washington Evening Star, introduced Mr Hoover as the man who started "the great debate" over U. S. foreign policy.

The ex-president said "now the great debate is replaced by a bigger debate, led by a reincarnation of St Paul x x x." He did not elaborate on the reference.

"Uncle Joe" Mr Hoover said, "can get no satisfaction out of the great debate. We have only to recollect how Kaiser Wilhelm, Mussolini, Hitler and Tojo mistook our family discussions for division."

Allies

repeatedly surrounded U.N. units—Turks, Belgian, British, American. An Australian outfit fought Reds on three sides. Filipinos, New Zealanders, South Koreans, Canadians and Americans pitched in each time to rescue trapped units.

Most fought clear with relatively light losses. But one, the British Royal Gloucestershire Fusiliers Battalion lost heavily. It was overwhelmed by sheer numbers of Chinese.

AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported that part of one company were the only known survivors. Censors withheld the exact losses.

"There were some nasty scenes up to it," said an officer of the 29th British Commonwealth Brigade to which the Gloucesters belonged. "I saw a column of our tanks coming back carrying piles of dead and wounded with blood running down the side of the tanks."

Three American battalions fought their way out of a trap on the central front against heavy odds.

Despite entrapments and withdrawals, there was a strong air of confidence in Allied ranks.

loway at the Union County jail and asked him to remove the Marion man to his jail for safekeeping. The suspect was transferred to the Union County jail at 2 a.m. today and was taken to Columbus by Sheriff Galloway, arriving there at 10 a.m. Three deputies of the Franklin County Sheriff's department began questioning him at the jail at noon today.

Deputy Sheriff Sgt Paul Stormont was heading the questioning detail.

Several discrepancies are apparent between the descriptions of the Marion suspect now in custody in Columbus, the man who hitched a train ride to Marion Wednesday night, and a man seen entering the vestibule of the Alter home Wednesday morning. The latter was wearing a blue-gray suit and carrying a leather briefcase and described as 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds and smooth faced.

The man who hitched the train ride was described as having blood-stained clothes, scratches on his face, being about 5 feet 7, about 155 pounds and of dark hair and dark complexion.

No Scratches on Face

The suspect arrested in Richwood is described as about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing about 150 pounds, 26 years old with dark hair plastered close to his head. He was clean shaven and of slim build with no scars or scratches on his face. His clothes were bloodstained and two fingers on one hand were cut. The fingers were bound in a rag. He was wearing a hat of soft felt described by some as brown, by others as gray.

Dr. Robert Evans, Franklin County coroner, has said that when the slayer is found, police will probably find his face scratched due to the terrific struggle before Mrs. Alter was killed.

The Marion man arrested and now being questioned in Columbus has a previous police record here.

He was arrested twice in Marion in June 1946—once for drunkenness, for which he was fined $10 and costs, and once for malacious destruction of property, for which he was fined $50 and costs.

He is a native of Kentucky and has been employed by the Erie since February.

No Trace of Hitchhiker

Acting Police Chief Clyde Hardin and Sheriff LeRoy Retterer said today that so far they have not been able to turn up any trace of the man who hitched a ride here Wednesday night on the C. & O. freight.

Chief Hardin said investigators here were handicapped by the fact it was 14 or 15 hours after the man arrived here until local police officials were notified he was being sought for questioning.

During that period he could have jumped a freight on either of the outgoing east and west railroads and been 200 miles away from here by the time we got word he had arrived here, Chief Hardin said.

Mrs. Alter's badly beaten body was found lying in a pool of blood in her home Wednesday evening. Apparently her face had been beaten with the heel of a man's "loafer-type" shoe, which police found. She had been dead 12-15 hours.

Police said they thought Mrs. Alter was slain either by someone whom she knew well enough to let inside the house or by a stranger who forced his way inside.

Found By Husband

Her husband, Russell, a railroad firemen and special deputy sheriff, said he locked the front door Wednesday morning before he went to work.

He and his parents found her body on the kitchen floor when he returned home from work Wednesday evening.

The Alter baby, crying but unharmed, was in the crib.

Coroner Robert A. Evans said he is withholding an official verdict in the case. He conducted an autopsy. Deputy Sheriff Stormont said that he didn't think rape entered in the case.

STAR CONFIRMED. Confirmation of movie star Margaret O'Brien is followed by good wishes expressed by Archbishop J. Francis A. McIntyre, of Los Angeles. The prelate conducted the ceremony at the Roman Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills.

Civil Over Military, Sen. Saltonstall Says

DELAWARE, O., April 27—(AP)—A civilian and not a military leader is the head of our government, and we can not have it otherwise, Senator Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) said yesterday.

The country is aroused by the way in which the administration dealt with General MacArthur, one of the most respected generals in American history," said the senator in a prepared speech.

"I thoroughly agree that there can not be two presidents and that President Truman had to see to it that his orders were carried out affirmatively. He had to take action."

He added, however:

Lack of Judgment

"But, I believe that the manner in which he dismissed the general showed lack of judgment."

The senator spoke before the Institute of Practical Politics at Ohio Wesleyan University.

He said if the man in the White House is not the executive leader of our government, our position in world affairs will be weakened seriously. Saying every free nation is looking to us for guidance and strength, the three-time governor of Massachusetts added "that strength can come only from unity of purpose, unity of understanding, and unity of action."

He asserted the present administration is "constantly and increasingly adding to the confusion in the minds of our people as to where we are going."

"The mistakes of the Democratic administration are continuing day by day on an ever-ascending scale," he said. "We can point out and try to correct those ineptitudes as they happen, but there is only one way to assure the country that they will not continue to happen. That way is to clean out the present administration lock, stock, and barrel."

National, state and local Republican leaders assembled for the institute's Republican program patterned after "Democratic Day" held last week. Informal conferences and panel discussions on the theme "What is ahead for the Republican party" were included in the program.

Purpose of the institute is to encourage students to actively participate in practical politics, and in some cases, to make a career of government service.

Hearings On RFC Opened

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—The Senate banking committee opens public hearings today on the possible future of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

On one side the committee considered demands that Congress abolish the much criticized agency and call a halt to direct government lending to private enterprise.

On the other, it faced pressure for new laws to install specific safeguards against political favoritism as a yardstick for deciding who should get loans.

Both sides wheeled up their big guns for the debate, which promises to be short but sharp, possibly winding up Tuesday.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), head of a banking subcommittee which has clashed with the White House in denouncing what it called favoritism in RFC lending, was slated to testify against the abolition move.

Budget for 27 Gov't Agencies Cut 10 Percent

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—The 1952 budget of 27 federal agencies was slashed 10 percent—$665,900,025—today by the House appropriations committee.

The committee recommend that the house give the agencies $6,171,777,440 for the fiscal year starting next July. President Truman had asked $6,837,677,465; the same agencies got $11,932,720,332 for the present year.

The funds are for the so-called "independent offices" whose finances are lumped in a single bill. Almost all of them were cut, including the Atomic Energy Commission and the Veterans' Administration.

The committee's action is subject to alteration by the House when it considers the bill next week.

ers with conveyer belts so the customers' purchases will move by the cashiers in a continuous stream to speed checking out.

Exit from the store will be through a "magic carpet" door. This door opens as the customer steps on a rubber matting just in front of it and stays open while he passes through with his purchases in his arms.

Self-Service Department

Featured in the store is a 70-foot self-service meat department. These 70 feet of open top, refrigerated meat cases will hold all the many cuts of meat, individually wrapped, weighed and priced, ready for quick selection by the customer. Although the department is self-service, a clerk will be on hand to keep cases stocked, offer shoppers suggestions on various cuts, and aid in filling any special orders. Meat is prepared for the self-service cases in rooms at the rear of the store.

Some of the many other new shopping conveniences for the new store include new type grocery carts, complete air conditioning, latest type refrigerated produce display racks, self-service dairy, frozen foods and ice cream section, wide aisles and eye level shelves.

Coffee grinding and the sale of cigarets and candy also has been planned.

The front of the building will be decorated with the new type blue Kroger signature signs.

LaPierre Named Manager

Alfred LaPierre of 811 East Center street, manager of the present Kroger store since its opening 10 years ago and a veteran of 29 years' service with the company, will manage the new store.

He said this will be the largest store the company has had in Marion since it first began doing business here in 1921.

Store hours will be 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week and 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The store will employ 80 people. Lawrence O. McGill of 275 Chestnut street will be head meat cutter, Noel Corwin of 662 East Church street will be head produce man, Robert Stoner of 793 Congress street will be head stock man and Mrs Genevieve Winston of 693 Woodrow avenue will be head cashier.

MacArthur

in New York, Washington and San Francisco, told the throng:

"Encouraged"

"I have been encouraged in many ways by the events which have followed my return from long absence abroad. Foremost of the encouraging signs has been the demonstration that the American people are keenly allied to their own responsibilities and do unhesitatingly voice their views on the direction of the policy of government."

MacArthur said that it was "difficult to ask men to fight and die unless we give them a realistic mission and the means to accomplish it." And then he asked, "What is our policy in Korea?"

Some say, he said, our policy is pacification and unification of Korea. Others, he added, say that our objective is achieved upon clearing South Korea of invading forces.

"Still others," MacArthur said, "ignore both explanations and frankly say that our objective now is to continue to engage the enemy forces in a prolonged and indecisive campaign of attrition, notwithstanding the constantly increasing cost in American blood."

MacArthur decried interference with the American Far East political policy "by nations with only token forces in the field."

Unrealism

"It is in this situation of complete unrealism that while meticulously implementing the directives given me, I have strongly urged the need for a positive policy attuned to the military realities and designed to stop through strength this slaughter of America's sons."

the five-star general as Pacific commander.

Briefly, President Truman wants to confine the war to Korea if possible but MacArthur wants to launch a broader effort against the Chinese Communists, including a sea blockade and destruction of Red Chinese bases in Manchuria.

MacArthur's scheduled appearance before the two committees continued to be a subject of controversy.

Senator Russell (D-Ga), who will serve as chairman of the two groups, fought for closed hearings, with testimony from which military secrets had been blue-penciled to be made public later.

Russell told a reporter that if MacArthur wants to read a prepared statement in public, the privilege will be granted to the general. The Georgia senator said, however, that he wants questions asked behind closed doors.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif), an armed services member, said that system won't do at all.

"For five years there has been too much discussion in private of policies which should not have been secret at all," he said. "Unless the public gets the maximum amount of information, this country is going to be divided worse than it is now."

Predicts U. S. Safe By 1953

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—Defense mobilizer Charles E. Wilson says the production "miracles" of World War II can now be doubled and that in three years America's industrial machine can achieve peace.

If war is averted, he says, the increased productive capacity can be used for a better standard of living.

Warning that inflation could ruin the defense program, Wilson calls for "toil and sweat" to avert "blood and tears."

He says the U. S. production machinery is now running so fast that any aggressor—specifically "a certain mustachioed gentleman from Moscow"—would be "crazy" to "tangle" with this nation after 1953.

Wilson gave this outlook last night in an address at a dinner of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The dinner, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, was the concluding event of the annual newspaper week here.

Wilson said the nation is not doing as well in controlling inflation as it is in increasing defense production.

He urged Americans to do their jobs to the best of their ability, be content with "reasonable" profits and wages, understand and accept a need for higher taxes, refrain from hoarding, buy only the things they need and shun black markets.

Czechs State Charges Against Correspondent

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, April 27—(AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist government today accused Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis, arrested by secret police, of spreading "material insulting to the Czechoslovak republic and its order."

The AP's Prague chief of bureau, held since Monday, also is accused of "securing and verifying certain secret reports," the government told the U. S. embassy.

The Czech accusation was contained in an official note to the U. S. embassy which said the Czech government had "testimony of witnesses" to back its charges.

Earl Carroll's Will Calls for Woman's Statue Over Grave

LOS ANGELES, April 27—(AP)—There will be a statue of an undraped woman over the grave of showman Earl Carroll.

That was the wish of Carroll, who was killed with his showgirl friend, Beryl Wallace, and others in a Pennsylvania air crash in 1948. The nearly life-sized bronze statue is intended to symbolize Miss Wallace, leading lady in Carroll's shows, said Attorney Guy E Ward, representing the Carroll estate. It was made in 1935 by sculptor Alexander Weinman.

Superior Judge John Gee Clark, who was asked to approve the withdrawal of $10,000 as a down payment on a $50,000 memorial, had this to say of the matter:

"If he wanted to spend his money that way, he had a right to, although in approving this I Wallace in Forest Lawn Memo-

The statue is to be raised over the marble sarcophagus containing the bodies of Carroll and Miss Wallace in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Dying City

NEW YORK

If ever a city needed pity from the gods of war, it is the city of Seoul.

It should be given a rest under the rotation system. It has earned one.

Battle damage has turned this capital of the Republic of Korea into another Berlin, another Warsaw. And if the tides of conflict roll back and forth across it much longer it may end up another Carthage.

It is beginning to look more like a classic graveyard than a living city. Today it is probably inhabited by more rats than people. And the rats diet on the debris-covered dead.

HAL BOYLE

Seoul has changed hands four times in the last ten months. And the Reds are knocking at its gates again in a mighty offensive. By the time you read this they may be already back in.

The normal time schedule for the Reds to drive from the 38th Parallel into Seoul is four days. They've done it twice already—last June, last January.

By Hal Boyle

WHY CAN'T THE United Nations army hold it? Because the outnumbered Allies must fight a war of maneuver rather than a war of fixed positions. They have to do this to survive, to keep from being engulfed by a human sea of Chinese.

If they gambled on a single stand, this great flood of armed and heedless flesh would wash over them and their guns and destroy them. But by hitting, killing and pulling back, the Allies hope to break up this living enemy sea into smaller waves of troops which they themselves can mop up.

So far these tactics have worked. For the farther the Chinese have to march the farther they are from their Manchurian supply bases. And that means there is less power in their battering waves. It is easier to kill a snake when he is streched out than when it is coiled to strike.

THERE IS ANOTHER reason why Seoul is hard to defend. It is on the wrong side of the Han river. If the Allies tried to hold it in force, they would have their backs to this river. And a sudden enveloping flank smash by the enemy might leave the United Nations forces cut off from behind.

This stern military fact is hard for civilian Koreans to understand. It is difficult for them to see why Seoul cannot be saved.

Again they must take up the long foot march south along "heartbreak highway." But each time there are fewer of them to go. Seoul dwindled in a few weeks from a war-swollen population of 1,500,000 to about 200,000. Most of those who stayed behind were the very weak or the very old—too young or too old and weak for the Reds to grab for service as impressed soldiers or human pack horses.

Many of these children and elderly persons have died by starvation or disease. They collapse on the streets and die unheeded. Few dogs prowl among the rubble. For refugees, when their rice is gone, catch and eat the dogs.

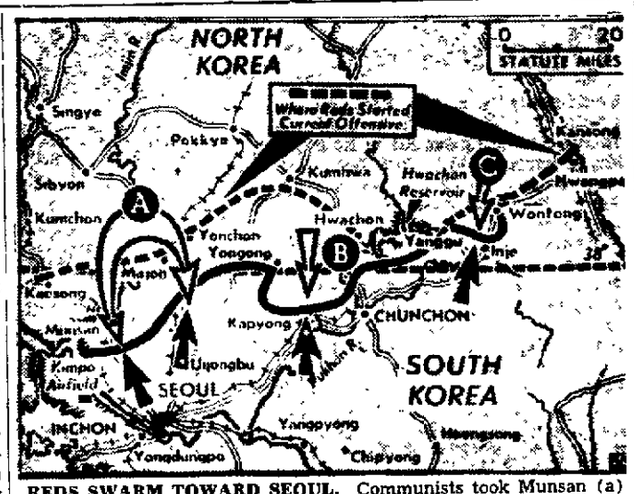
SEOUL NEVER WAS exactly the Paris of the Orient. It was, however, the most modern city in South Korea. But the four horsemen have ridden it into ruin. It has been devastated by bomb and bombardment, by street fighting and by great acres of fire that wiped out hundreds of small homes in a single night.

The Korean war has had many casualties, but number one casualty is this dying city, a city dying for a world democracy that must remember it in its ashes.



REDS SWARM TOWARD SEOUL. Communists took Munsan (a) and surged toward Seoul. Another arm of drive headed toward Uijongbu and South Korean capital. In center of battle line the Reds pushed a U-shaped bulge 30 miles northeast of Seoul. In east, Allied troops prepared to meet a new assault from Communist forces regrouping east of Hwachon reservoir (c). Broken line is battle line at start of Red spring offensive. Solid line is approximate present battle line. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Fair's Fair

By Inez Robb

DAVIS, Calif.

THERE is nothing quite like letting the hair down from time to time and dishing the dirt.

But fun is fun and fair is fair and this little notice will serve fair warning that the next guy who inches up to me with the juicy item that President Truman is a bonafide wife-beater and that Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur is a fugitive horse thief in good standing — well, that guy is going to get a good swift kick where it will do the most good.

I am sick unto death of all this noxious mess of rumor, report, gossip and malicious invention loosed in the past fortnight and aimed at any and all public figures whose cow-lick happens to stick a half inch above the horizon.

Inez Robb

You know, I doubt very much that Sen. Taft ran away from the White House while his father was President to become a faro dealer on a Mississippi river boat or that he eloped with a lady known as Lou who did the can-can in the 1st Chance Saloon in Lucas, Ohio.

I find nothing discreditable in either rumor, but something tells me that Senator Taft is innocent as accused and will beat the rap. Furthermore, I do not intend to repeat this canard.

IN ADDITION, I DO not believe that a soldier of Gen. George Catlett Marshall's unique integrity has been a sworn enemy of Gen. MacArthur ever since the latter, as chief of staff, assigned the former to some mythical army post that is the equivalent of walking a police beat in the Canarsie district of Brooklyn.

I do not believe that Gen. Marshall is paying off a grudge and the next party who whispers this story in my shell pink ear does it at his own risk.

Nor do I believe that a man of Gen. Omar Bradley's known ethical standards and plain decency is sore at Gen. MacArthur because the latter once caught Gen. Bradley with his epaulets down and playing the piano in the Sugar Bowl at Camp Dix. I know as a matter of fact that Gen. Bradley does not play the piano.

Furthermore, it is incredible that any American in his right mind and with the sense God gave geese can believe that when Gen. MacArthur left the Philippines in 1942, he took all his personal belongings, including several tons of furniture and household goods and gear with him.

BUT THIS IS the story I hear continuously. That the general when he left the Philippines was given his choice of (1) taking all his household truck, or (2) giving the space to a dozen American army nurses trapped on Corregidor. The general, so the libel goes, took his furniture and left the nurses to a hideous fate.

There are other stories, too, including the one that credit Gen. MacArthur's eagerness to liberate the Philippines to the fact he (1) owns all the gold mines on the island, (2) owns nine-tenths of the sugar plantations and (3) owns a hotel in Manila miraculously saved from destruction by his refusal to let it be shelled during the reoccupation of the city.

And while I am about it, I am kinda' tired, too, of the stories that Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur would never have made private first class if his old man hadn't been a general and had plen-tee pull. Yea, that's how this guy got places; pull and lots of it. Wanna punch on the nose? Then, just try repeating this story to me once more.

As for President Truman, I do not intend to cast any votes for him for Mr. America, but fair is fair. I've been shuttling in and out of Washington with regularity for years, and this is the first time I ever heard of him mixing bourbon and benedictine.

LET'S LOOK AT this charge impartially. No one will deny that the President is a Missouri boy. And there isn't a Missouri stomach in history that could stand a mixture of bourbon and benedictine. Missourians are plain people, addicted to bourbon and ditch water, in modest quantities.

No one ever begrudged the late President Roosevelt his martini before dinner. Why all this noxious shouting? This is the first time I have ever heard the President accused of tippling, and I find the accusation as nauseating as that which charges Gen. MacArthur with carting chairs and rugs out of the Philippines rather than American nurses.

If there is a smear campaign abroad in the land today, it rests at the doors of us American citizens. It cannot be blamed on the Democratic or the Republican brain trusts. Each one of us is directly responsible and we ought to be bitterly ashamed of ourselves for either believing or repeating such out and out tripe.

The next time someone walks up and tells me that Rep. Joe Martin has just been caught robbing a poor box, I am going to belt him a good one.

I am ashamed of us and for us; us Americans, that is.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

GET ready to march, Comrades, march. The open season for treason is here. May Day's a-coming. And even as our war plants are following secret FBI instructions to install flood lights, barbed wire fences, steel doors and electric traps to keep military secrets from you, this open-hearted land of ours will permit you to spit on our capitalist sidewalks, goad our capitalist constabulary in the hope of provoking street riots, and demonstrate in support of an enemy Army of Sovietized Chinese now unleashing a bone-crushing offensive against our G.I.'s.

Victor Riesel

So get ready to march, Comrades, march. This May First each of you will need to make the parade route several times more than you did last year to give the impression of large contingents—and so give your agitation-propaganda chiefs and Tass correspondents the chance to report to Moscow that, "Hundreds of thousands turned out." We know how you do it, Comrades. We know it's been a standing joke in the party for years. We know that contingent will parade past New York's Union Square as ladies garment workers. And then get into a building for a quick change, rush uptown and come by again as sailors.

We have motion pictures of your electronic workers' squads in the May Day parade passing the same spot five times—dressed in different guises. But this time even the quick change, Comrades, won't be useful for you on the international propaganda front. We'll have capitalistic cameras all along the route. Some jose, en, Tovarischi.

AND DO I HEAR an argument, Comrades, that you won't be trapsing for treason come May Day? Isn't it true, Comrades, that on the same day your parade banners call for support of "The People's Democratic Republic of China" (Sovietized China), Mao Tse-tung's cadres will be marching in a special "resist America" May Day parade?

Of course, it's true!

Isn't it true that, on the same day your street flotillas will be smeared with slogans urging us to make way for a Red Chinese victory, the Chinese Communist party, the Chinese Red Youth Corps and the Chinese Federation of Labor will be goose-stepping under special Moscow orders calling for "fully one half the population to participate in the movement of resisting America" by demonstrating on May Day?

Of course, it's true. Those orders were issued in Peiping on April 14 at 2 p.m. by special radio broadcast.

AND ISN'T IT TRUE that your so-called labor parade that day, Comrades, is being masterminded by a former member of the American Communist Party's Politburo?

Of course, it's true! Your May Day chief, operating out of a New York mid-town hotel, is Louis Weinstock who, not too long ago, was briefed on Communist tactics behind the Iron Curtain.

And won't you be entertained that day by Paul Robeson, once a singer, who will talk to you from that Union Square platform, undoubtedly in the same phrases he uses on those recordings he makes for playbacks at Soviet-controlled political rallies in Eastern Europe? And he doesn't like this U. S. A. as it is today. He likes it better in Russia. Any subtlety of implication here is unintentional.

And won't your banners, carried aloft in true revolutionary tradition by your labor contingents, say exactly what the Red Chinese ones will be saying in Peiping, Shanghai, Canton and other Red-held cities. Of course, they will, Comrades. We know what your printers are working on. You'll be shouting for our abandonment of Korea. So will the enemy Soviet Chinese. They are under special orders. You'll be demanding "U. S. Forces out of Formosa." So will the enemy. You will scream for the end of our National Emergency re-armament program. So will the enemy.

You will ask for repeal of the draft. So will the enemy. You will call our government, business and labor leaders "evil rulers and Wall St. warmongers." So will the enemy.

Among the very first slogans in your May Day parade will be the charge that we are anti-Negro, that we persecute the darker-skinned Puerto Ricans and that we plan to execute unjustly a Mississippi Negro called Willie McGee, convicted of a capital punishment offense. You will, of course, be doing this not out of overwhelming sympathy for the unfortunate man, but methodically to turn the armies of the Orient's colored people against us. We know you've already dispatched spurious propaganda along that heinous line to unions in some 25 nations from Chile to China.

So has the enemy. That's why I say, it's the open air season for treason. Get ready to march, Comrades, march.

4 Detention Camps Asked

WASHINGTON, April 27—(AP)—Congress is weighing a proposal to prepare four detention camps for 14,000 political prisoners in case of a general war.

James V. Bennett, federal prison director, recommended to the House Appropriations Committee that $775,000 be put up to prepare four abandoned military camps for use by suspected subversives in the event of war.

Bennett testified recently in support of his agency's request for funds. The committee made the testimony public today.

The recommendation came on the heels of testimony by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover and assistant attorney general James M. McInerney. They said the Justice Department has a line of 14,000 persons "already denominated as being a threat to internal security in the event of a national emergency."

The suspects have been "thoroughly investigated," they said, and could be taken into custody under the provisions of the internal security act within a few hours.

Bennett told the committee, however, the law requires that political prisoners be kept separate from criminal convicts.

By JOHN CROSBY

The Happy Childhood of Sam Levenson

Sam Levenson is succeeding in doing something that a number of other comics have recently tried and could not be done. He is kidding the pants off us spoofing our shiny American civilization, our habits and our prejudices. Several contemporary humorists—Abe Burrows, to name only one—have claimed that America was in no mood to be kidded about itself, that Will Rogers wouldn't exist today because our institutions had become too sacred to be profaned by laughter.

But Levenson proves it gently. He doesn't quite know what he is doing. On examination for psychiatry, for example, Says Levenson: "The man is sucking his thumb. Emotional instability. They take him to a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist says he's disturbed. Huh! He's disturbed! He doesn't know whether he's a boy or a girl." On the modern shoe store: "Today every shoe store is a clinic. They X-ray the kid's foot hard as a rock. The explanation: the butcher should drop dead."

John Crosby

It is a very human comedy and after half an hour of Levenson, you are likely to feel glad that you are a member of the race, that human beings aren't such schmoes as we had been led to believe. A nice feeling for a change. Levenson's comedy technique is rudimentary to say the least, consisting largely of his moon-faced, engaging grin and a pair of hands that he flails around helplessly.

He deals heavily in nostalgia—the old days contrasted with the new—and makes no effort to conceal his preference for the old. "The modern kitchen. Everybody has got the magic eye dishwasher. We had it, too. Mama would take one look at you with her magic eye and the dishes were washed."

If I were running things over at CBS I would just have planted Mr. Levenson in front of a curtain and let him talk. His humor is cumulative; the more he talks the funnier he gets. But such an act is too uncomplicated for the sophisticated brains of broadcasting, so a gimmick had to be added. The gimmick is the introduction of children with their parents and their problems. If a gimmick was unavoidable, I must confess they picked a pretty nice one. The kids are awfully cute to look at, though their problems are nothing that will keep you awake nights. One child wanted a BB gun to protect himself from another urchin down the block. A small girl complained her mother shooed her out of the kitchen while she was baking a cake, a terrible thing to do to a little girl, what with pans to be licked and icing to be tasted.

"The educators," this ex-school teacher is likely to say, 'will tell you to look out for the child who won't play. He's an unhappy child. I was a very happy child. I always had a black eye, one arm in a sling and bruises." They played rough in Brooklyn in those days. "We played cops and robbers with real cops."

Best of all are his recollections of his mother, especially Mom in the kitchen. "Mama is boiling a chicken. The tasting committee comes in. All the mothers on the block. Put in salt, says one. Take out salt. Put in an onion. Take out an onion. The chicken comes feet. He hasn't even got bones yet."

Levenson's must have been a happy childhood, if you believe the psychiatrists, because none of it is buried in his subconscious. His childhood, of which he has apparently forgotten nothing, is all on the surface of his witty mind and comes out on warm, appealing chunks on his program (CBS-TV 7 p. m. EST Saturdays). "Papa says either the dog goes or you go. So I took the dog outside. Papa says, 'You're staying!'"

Opinion Split On Margaret Truman Debut as Actress

HOLLYWOOD, April 27—(AP)—Comment on Margaret Truman's debut as a radio actress today ranged from glowing praise by her co-star and director to lukewarm reviews in the press.

Miss Truman starred last night in a radio version of the film "Jackpot," playing the wife of James Stewart. Press comment was divided.

Jack Hellman of Daily Variety, Hollywood trade publication, said her performance was "somewhat more than adequate and somewhat less than competent. She shows wholesome promise. . . if she had a choice of careers she should favor acting over singing."

Zuma Palmer of the Hollywood Citizen-News said Miss Truman gave a creditable first performance. Walter Ames of the Los Angeles Times said she gave "a satisfactory performance but not an outstanding one."

Only one radio editor, Dan Jenkins of the Hollywood Reporter, gave her an outright panning. He said "Miss Truman has put a good deal of time and effort into training her singing voice. If she intends to become a dramatic acress, she can hardly expect to make the grade without at least an equal amount of dramatic training."

Miss Truman's fellow workers on the broadcast were much more complimentary. Co-star James Stewart predicted she could have a future as an actres. "The girl is good," he remarked. "She came through perfectly. She has a great amount of ease and that means a lot in acting."

Packers Blame Meat Scarcity On Controls

By The Associated Press

Meat shortages are springing up in many areas throughout the country, and most packers are putting the blame on "part-way" price controls.

The packers queried in an Associated Press survey largely blamed the sporadic but ominous shortages on the fact that livestock prices were allowed to rise after the government-ordered price freeze put ceilings on meat. They pointed out, however, that the ceilings vary.

For instance, they said, small processors with higher ceilings have been able to buy away animals from the big packers. Such a development has nudged meat supplies out of normal channels in many areas and has forced retailers to get their meat from other sources and usually at higher prices.

Meat industry spokesmen claimed that's how black markets develop.

Housewives have complained that they can get varied meat cuts only from high-priced specialty shops, leading to the bitter phrase: "There's plenty of meat—if you can pay enough."

Junior Service Guild Backs Bond Issue

The Junior Service Guild of Marion County, endorsed the school bond issue and pledged its support to Board of Education in getting it passed at a general meeting of the Guild held Thursday night at the State Street Junior High School.

Guest speaker was Cecil Gabler, principal of Harding High School, who talked on the bond issue.

Mrs. Herbert Petrich announced the 1951 Follies, sponsored by the Guild, will be held this fall. The Jerome Cargill Co. of New York will assist in the presentation, as it did with the 1950 Follies

Announcement was made by Mrs. Merle Hamilton that the Guild is assisting the Chamber of Commerce in circulation of petitions for zoning of Marion Township. Many members are assisting in this project.

Mrs John Lightner, social welfare chairman, announced the need for children's clothing and women's underwear for the Clothing Center sponsored by the Guild and Welfare Department.

Mrs. William Kimball, vice president, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Frederick Rea. Mrs. Edwin Probst, arts chairman, announced the marionette show to be held Saturday at the Palace Theater.

Escape Injury When Car And Train Collide

Mr and Mrs. Delbert Darnell of 895 West Center street escaped injury at 7 a.m today when the car driven by Mrs. Darnell, was struck by an east-bound freight train on the Dayton division of the Erie railroad at the West Center crossing.

Mrs. Darnell told police she did not see the train until it was too late. The train was moving slowly and the car was only slightly damaged, police said.

There are no gates or crossing watchman at the West Center street crossing.

Minor damage was reported when cars driven by Paris E. McElheny, 62, of 119 Johnson street and Anthony J. Nicolosi, 31, of 529 North State street collided on Cass avenue at 4:15 p.m. Thursday.

At 8 p.m. yesterday cars driven by Joseph Eli Evans of 481 Davids street and Mrs. Helen C. Grigsby of 324 Bellefontaine avenue collided at Delaware avenue and Superior street. Minor damage was reported.

Major Thomas M. Nial

The Marine Corps has already brought a few boatloads of men back from Korea and says that others will follow as they are replaced.

The Army is now starting a rotation plan, too. Those who have served longest in the front line will be shipped back first.

The Army says the rate of rotation will depend on how quickly replacements arrive and on the necessity to keep up the units' combat effectiveness. But the rate will build up until eventually about 20,000 are being yanked out of Korea each month.

At first most will be shipped back directly to the states. Later some will be assigned to garrison duty in Japan and elsewhere in the Far East before heading homeward.

The returnees will come back via Seattle or San Francisco and will all get a leave on their way to new assignments.

The Air Force rotation plan will go into effect in May. Those whose normal 30-month tour of duty in the Far East would have been up last July will be brought back first. The Air Force says it hopes eventually to catch up and get current with expirations of normal 30-month Far Eastern tours, but no target date has been set.

The Air Force also will return a few men with combat experience needed in the training program in this country, regardless of the length of their tours.

The Navy says its ships are constantly going to and returning from the Far East so it has no special rotation plan.

From J. L. W. of Otsego, Mich.: "Like you suggested in a recent column, I gave my draft board a statement from my doctor as proof of my wife's pregnancy. But the board said it had not yet been authorized to list unborn children as dependents. What's the story?"

The board is wrong. Go back and refer it to Selective Service regulation 1622.15, paragraph (o), which states "The term child . . . shall include a legitimate or an illegitimate child from the date of it conception."

From G.L.W. of Perryton, Tex.: "Would you clarify this July 25, 1951, cut-off for G.I. training as it applies to teachers?"

Sure. At present teachers may continue summer courses under the G.I. Bill as long as they have entitlement, until July 25, 1956. But their study must lead toward a degree, they must be continuously employed as teachers the rest of the year and they may not skip any summer sessions.

From E. W. of Schenectady, N. Y.: "I've had my draft physical exam but am now under a postponement of induction until June 1. I'll pass my 26th birthday before then. Can I be drafted after June 1?"

No. If you turn 26 just two seconds before you are actually inducted, then you're exempt from the draft.

From E. R. M. of Birmingham, Ala.: "As an honorably discharged World War II Vet, with no service-connected disabilities, am I eligible for VA hospitalization?"

Yes, if you are unable to pay for private hospitalization yourself and if bed space is available. Apply at the nearest VA office.

"Blessed Are the Peacemakers"

JESUS went up into a mountain, and His disciples came to Him. And He taught them, saying:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit: For theirs is the kingdom of Heaven.

"Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

"Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

"Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

"Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

"Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven.

"Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

"Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you."

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

I was on my feet the instant the knocker sounded, and beckoned to Junior and Roderick.

"You boys come with me," I told them. "You'll be able to help me with your grandmother's shoes. I've seen you put them on her often. Dicky, don't you dare open that door until your mother is in her chair."

"I will hold the postern fast," Dicky said, loping toward the door, as I rushed swiftly but noiselessly across the room to his mother's side. She still was snoring gently on the couch, and I spoke softly to the boys.

"Each of you pick up a shoe," I said, "and be ready to slip it on." Then I bent over her, and pressed my fingers against her wrist in the way Katherine has taught me to awaken sleepers, in order not to shock them.

She opened her eyes, looked at me dreamily, then spoke sharply.

"You father is at the door. Is that it?"

I nodded, and held out my hands to help her rise.

"Yes, he is," I said, "but there is no need to rush. Dicky will not open the door until you are in your chair. There, don't get to your feet yet. Sit still and put your feet out. See your kneeling courtiers!" I indicated Junior and Roderick, kneeling one on each side of her with an extended shoe in his hand. "Slip your feet into them, then take hold of my hands, and in three more seconds you'll be in your chair."

She put out her feet, thanked the boys as the shoes slipped on, then took my hands, and leaned on me until I had put her into her chair. Then I adjusted a couple of combs and smiled down at her.

"Not even a hair ruffled," I told her, "and Junior and Roderick have put back the afghan and pillows. All right, Dicky!"

But he already was opening the door, and the next instant my father came through it, followed by the rotund stocky figure of Olsen, the Lansfield's capable manager.

"Where is Mrs. Beckett?" he demanded, as Dicky set chairs for them.

"In the next room," I said.

"Can somebody stay with the baby while she listens to me?" he asked next.

"I can," I told him, but he frowned a dissent.

"I want you here," he said.

"I am sure Faith can keep him amused, if he is not already asleep," I said, and he made an impatient little gesture.

"Will you arrange it, please?" he asked, and I went forthwith into my bedroom where I found Faith playing happily with gurgling young Peter while Katharine unpacked some of his belongings.

I explained my father's request, and then looked at my young daughter steadily.

"Faith," I said, "I want to place a great responsibility upon you. Grandad wants to talk to Aunt Katharine, and we want to be sure that young Peter will not cry. Can you keep him amused while Aunt Katharine is out of the room?"

She returned my steady gaze, and then put her hand up in a sort of salute.

"Can do," she said, nearly upsetting my risibles with her use of one of the phrases her brother and cousins use so frequently.

"That will be splendid," I said, and then I took her hands, drew her close to me, and looked down into her eyes.

"I want your promise on something else before Aunt Katharine turns young Peter over to you," I said.

Swiss Recipe Provides Tasty Cheese Salads

THERE'S something in the air in spring that fills the mind with visions of faraway places—places like Switzerland, for example. Even if you never get to the country of picturesque hillsides and coocoo clocks, you can have a bit of its charm and pleasure with this authentic Swiss recipe.

Highly decorative for a festive occasion, this cheese salad is appetite provoking under all circumstances. A pleasant variation is the use of cubed apples instead of tomatoes and the addition of chopped walnuts. In this form, the salad may also be served in halved, scooped tomatoes instead of pastry shells.

CHEESE SALAD .....

4¾-inch pastry shells
2 T mayonnaise
1 small piece garlic, crushed
½ T horseradish
¼ t salt
¼ lb. Swiss cheese, cubed (approx. 1 cup)
2 firm tomatoes, cubed
½ cup whipped cream

Bake 4 individual pastry shells. Mix mayonnaise, garlic and horseradish. Cut cheese into ¼-inch cubes, mix with mayonnaise, cover and let stand for about one hour at room temperature. Drain tomatoes well and cut into ¼-inch cubes, add to cheese with ¼ cup of whipped cream. Mix lightly. Fill pastry shells, salt remaining cream and decorate top of shells. Serve with watercress, or on a bed of lettuce. Serves two to four.

Amendment to Ditch Petition Approved

A petition calling for an amendment to the original petition for an improvement project on the Davids Ditch in Pleasant and Prospect Township was approved Thursday by Marion County commissioners.

Raymond H. Dutt and others asked the petition filed by Hayse L. Rogers and others be amended so that the entire five-mile long ditch would be open. Mr. Rogers had asked about half of the ditch be tiled.

The commissioners set July 12 as the date for a hearing on the engineer's new report on costs and assessments.

The request was made at a hearing on the engineer's report of costs and assessments on the original petition yesterday. The office of the county commissioners was jammed for the hearing.

School Bus Hit Near Bucyrus; None Hurt

School children on a bus and fish in a truck were involved in two different traffic accidents near Bucyrus yesterday.

A school bus loaded with children was involved in a traffic accident with a car pulling a housetrailer, state highway patrolmen reported today. The car, driven by Mrs John Schroeder of Royal Oak, Mich., attempted to pass the school bus driven by Ernest Earl Smith of near Galion, on U S. Route 30-N five miles east of Bucyrus.

A car coming from the opposite direction forced Mrs. Schroeder to turn too quickly and the housetrailer hit the school bus. Mrs. Schroeder then lost control of the car and it ran into the ditch and overturned. The trailer was demolished and the car badly damaged The school bus was only slightly damaged. None of the children were hurt.

A truck loaded with several hundred pounds of fresh fish, driven by Joseph Buhr of Rosemoyne, O., ran off the road, back onto the road, and then overturned two miles north of Bucyrus on State Route 4. Fish were spilled over the road and a number of passing motorists stopped and gathered them up. The driver told Crawford County sheriff's deputies he fell asleep. The truck was badly damaged The accident occurred at 9 15 p.m yesterday.

Chandler Ready To Give up Baseball Reins

Agrees To Go After Firing Of Mulbry

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 27—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler is ready "to pack up and go" in a few days now he has assurance that his enemy, Secretary-Treasurer Walter Mulbry, is quitting too.

Chandler refused to comment on yesterday's Associated Press story that baseball's executive council has accepted Mulbry's resignation at the commissioner's demand. But it was learned Chandler will stick to his promise to resign.

The former Kentucky governor and senator, who twice lost his fight for a contract renewal, steadfastly has refused to quit unless Mulbry, his former sidekick, also was relieved of his post. The once-strong friends of 30 years standing, fell out recently.

Ultimatum

Chandler handed his Mulbry ultimatum to John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Club, who talked with Chandler for five hours Saturday in Cincinnati. Galbreath had been sent by the executive council with orders to "get Chandler to resign immediately."

A member of the council, who requested anonymity, admitted Chandler has agreed to resign if Mulbry goes too

"We had to yield to Chandler's wishes," he said. "Because we felt this thing cannot drag on longer. It is an impossible situation when you've got a man you don't want running your business for you.

"We are anxious to get this thing cleaned out to clear the way for the election of a new commissioner. It's about time the fans began reading and talking about the players instead of the troubles of baseball."

Disloyalty

Chandler last month accused Mulbry of "disloyalty" and asked the club owners: "Give me the satisfaction of firing Mulbry before I leave office." At the time the executive council asked Mulbry to "carry on until the commissioner resigns, at the pleasure of the council."

Mulbry, at the time, said "loyalty is a two-way street. It isn't only the underling who should be loyal to his superior. It works both ways."

In Cincinnati yesterday Mulbry said, "My going or staying does not appear to be world shaking. I am agreeable to doing whatever seems to serve the best interests of baseball. This is in contrast to Chandler's attitude.

HOLD IT THIS WAY. 13-year-old Arthur MacArthur gets some baseball pointers from the Yankees' Joe DiMaggio at New York-Philadelphia game in Yankee stadium. Looking on is Col. Sidney Huff.

Wet Grounds Spoil Marsox-Yanks Tilt

Wet grounds at Newark's Arnold Park stopped the Marion Red Sox' road opener last night.

Manager Elmer Yoter will go with the same tentative lineup he would have used last night. That would send either Southpaw Dick Tarys or Bobo Salerno to the mound

Following tonight's Newark tilt, the Marsox return to Lincoln Park for a five-game home stand. They open the stand tomorrow night against the Lima Phillies. The Phillies remain for a twinbill in for single games Monday and Sunday and Richmond will come Tuesday.

Richmond downed Lima last night in the only O-I Loop encounter held. The Richmond win leaves Marion and Lima as the only teams without a notch in the win column.

Big Ten Teams In Big Weekend

CHICAGO, April 27—(AP)—Indiana and Illinois, both undefeated, play a pair of games today and tomorrow at Champaign, Ill., to highlight the weekend Big Ten baseball card.

If either the Hoosiers (1-0) or the Illini (2-0) sweep the important series, they will be installed the No 1 pennant contenders.

Another undefeated club, Northwestern (2-0), invades Purdue which will be making its initial start after plagued by rain. Wisconsin (0-1) is at Minnesota (0-2) and Michigan (0-2) at Iowa (0-2) to round out the conference games.

Ohio State, also unbeaten with two league victories, visits Western Michigan for a non-conference series. Michigan State (0-0) is a Wayne of Detroit Saturday.

Lone Homer Has Sewell's Glasses Rosy

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 27—(AP)—It's strange what just one home run can do.

The home run that Ted Kluszewski hit Wednesday night has changed the glasses that Luke Sewell, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has been wearing from dark-colored to rose-colored.

That home run beat the Chicago Cubs and today it brought this comment from Sewell:

"Watch our smoke now that big Kluszewski has recovered his batting eye."

The more cynical observers still wanted to be shown, however, as the Reds came in here for the start of a road trip that also will take them to all four eastern ball parks.

The cynical ones looked back over six defeats in eight games, repeated failures by all of the boys, including Kluszewski, to produce hits when they would mean runs and then adopted that "show me" attitude.

Sewell, however, took the attitude that Kluszewski's Wednesday night clout would set him off and that the other boys would follow.

"You know hitting is contagious," said Sewell.

Herman Wehmeier, who hasn't made a start in regular season competition, was down to do the hurling for the Reds in tonight's game against the Pirates. He was expected to be opposed by Murry Dickson or Mel Queen.

Richmond Rips Springfield

By The Associated Press

The Richmond Tigers scored six big runs in the second inning and went ahead to defeat the Springfield Giants, 14-5, in their opening game of the 1951 Ohio-Indiana League season last night. The losers committed six errors.

The Marion at Newark game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The same teams are scheduled to play tonight.

Dopesters Have Trouble Picking Derby Favorite

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 27—(AP)—Just in case anyone is trying to dredge a Kentucky Derby winner out of the mud of the Blue Grass stakes, it might be well to think it over calmly.

Kentucky hardboots still insist the $100,000 derby May 5 at Louisville is as unpredictable today as it was six months ago.

Cornelius V. Whitney's Nameluke staged a brilliant come-from-behind race to nab the first division of the split Blue Grass stakes yesterday at Keeneland. Mrs. Emil Denemark's Ruhe was beaten a nose by the King Ranch's Sonic in the second division, but was moved up to first place when Sonic was disqualified for obvious interference.

Not counting the eastern horses, which have to meet the survivors of competition in the mint julep belt to settle the derby ruckus, many Kentucky followers of the business general take this view:

1. If the track at Churchill Downs is fast on derby day, keep an eye on the Greentree Stable's Big Stretch.

2. Nameluke convinced a large majority that if it comes up an off track derby day, he may be the big horse.

Of course, Kentucky has yet to see Battle Morn, Repertoire, and several other eastern contenders in action.

through the SPORTSCOPE with A. L. McCLAIN

BALLOT TIME. There comes to this sports desk from time to time ballots ranging from all-time selections as the greatest football, baseball, basketball stars to finest French bicycle racer, (and why does it aways seem to be a Frenchman")

More often these requests as to whom we rate as tops in a given sport end in the nearest waste paper basket for the simple reason that more often the voter is expected to cast his ballot for the figure whom he has never seen in action. Boxing, of course, Dempsey or Louis, baseball, Cobb or the Babe. Vote for a more contemporary performer and you've "got rocks in your head."

HIGHER FIGURE. About as close as we've come to figuring out the significance of having votes cast by a sports scribe for an athlete he hasn't seen is to give the effect of a large number of votes cast.

For example "in a poll among 333 sports writers it has been determined Zeke Bonura was the worst fielding first baseman two to one—"

Today, students of the games, we will undertake to name the greatest individual athletes we have witnessed. Are they the greatest? Possibly not But at least it is an honest report because we have seen all of the mentioned ones in action.

FOOTBALL. Sure, Harmon, McAfee, Luckman were great, but a nod goes to Byron "Whizzer" White, All-American from Colorado and later a star in the professional ranks with the Detroit Lions.

Once when the Whizzer was having a good afternoon running around the hulking Chicago Bears, he suddenly began calling his signals for line plunges. Some plays later Coach Posty Clark took him out and admonished his star. White's reply was, "I proved I could run around 'em, I just wanted to see if I could go over 'em down the middle."

BASKETBALL. The vote goes to Charley Share, skyscraper who played for Bowling Green. Being almost seven feet in length was a natural talent in itself, but Charley wasn't simply a "goon" who stood under the boards and lay the ball through the hoops. An amazing finely coordinated man for his size, he could hook skillfully and had an accurate eye from outside.

Once against former Kentucky star, Alex Groza, he forced the Wildcat immortal to foul out in the third quarter and scored more than 20 points himself.

BOXING. Ever hear of Bob Olin? Didn't think so. He won the light heavyweight crown from Maxie Rosenbloom in the thirties. If you ever want to be convinced of someone's greatness meet him in his "backyard." Once during the war we put on the gloves with an instructor in a training camp and heard birdies chirping clearly for days. The boxing instructor was Olin.

BASEBALL. Why, it has to be Hank Greenberg, one time Detroit slugger now plugging for the Cleveland Indians as general manager. Who else could hit two homeruns in his last game before going into the Army?

ON FILE Now that the list is complete we are going to put a dozen or so columns on file and when a ballot comes in we will clip out the given sport and obligingly submit our choice.

Of course, the man on the other end conducting the poll will say, "Rocks, nothing but rocks—."

But we'll let the older sports writers place their X beside the Walter Johnsons, Jack Dempseys, and Bobby Jones. Never saw the gents—.

"Sack Full of Augers"

Hayes Deft Man With Tossing Colorful Lines

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, April 27—(AP)—Remember Francis Schmidt and his talent for manufacturing catchy phrases while coach of Ohio State's football Bucks?

Well, Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes, new mentor of the Ohioans, isn't too bad at turning an apt simile or metaphor.

Woody was discussing his prospects today when the name of Dick Thomas, sophomore end from Martins Ferry, popped up.

Like Burlap Sack

"Now there," Woody enthused "is a real defensive end. In scrimmage yesterday he was as rough, and bored in just like a burlap sack full of augers."

Hayes, just up from Miami University, displayed his confidence in two ways.

"We just bought a home in Upper Arlington," he said, indicating that he expects to be around more than a short time.

Then, in assaying his club, he opined:

"We're going to have a pretty good team I'm not complaining about anything. Of course, we open against a couple of tough ones in Southern Methodist and Michigan State, but we'll be hard to get along with, too. If we get by one or both of the first two, we may go a long way."

The spring workouts are moving along so well, Woody said, that he is giving his charges a day off Saturday. Next week three scrimmages are on tap, with a "rough one" on Saturday as a rehearsal for the "clinic game" which winds up the session the following Saturday.

800 Coaches

Hayes says he expects about 800 high school coaches to attend the annual clinic and windup contest, annually the big spring show on the campus.

The new mentor chatted about his playing personnel without reservation, and came up with one top-flight prediction.

"Right now," he said, "it looks as if Skip Doyle might be our No. 1 offensive fullback next season."

Doyle has been tried practically everywhere the last two years, and was listed as fifth string quarterback only a couple of days ago. Then he was shifted to left half as understudy to All-America Vic Janowicz.

"Doyle looks better than any of the offensive backs just now," Hayes declared. "He's fast and he has enough size to make us a really outstanding fullback."

Senators' Marrero Stops A's on One-Hitter

NEW DERBY CONTENDER. Battle Morn (above) boosted himself into a prominent place in Kentucky Derby calculations when he almost nipped Repetoire in the $49,800 Wood Memorial at Jamacia (April 21). The Cain Hoy stables colt is shown here with Jockey Ted Atkinson up, but was piloted by Eddie Arcaro in the Wood Memorial. Eddie hasn't committed himself yet to ride Battle Morn in the Kentucky Derby, but horsemen are giving the combination of Eddie and Battle Morn plenty of consideration.

Home Run By McCosky Is Only Safety

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Everybody looks like Christy Mathewson when the Philadelphia A's are in town. Now it's Connie Marrero, Washington's chunky Cuban with a one-hitter.

Marrero picked up where the Yanks' Eddie Lopat and Spec Shea left off. The Latin missed his shutout last night on Barney McCosky's first home run since 1947 but he pitched the majors first one-hitter of 1951.

Fun-Loving

The fun-loving little Cuban stuffed a seventh straight loss down the A's throats, 2-1, winning on homers by Mickey Vernon and Gil Coan. It was his second victory, both over Philadelphia, whose manager, Jimmy Dykes, complains Cubans shouldn't be allowed to play winter ball.

Little Connie retired the first 10 A's in order. Then McCosky, hit his homer in the fourth. He walked only two and struck out nine the rest of the way.

The win over Philadelphia's Joe Coleman boosted Washington into a first-place tie with the idle Cleveland Indians in the American League.

If the A's staggering is big news in the American, the shocking failure of the New York Giants is headline stuff in the National.

Manager Leo Durocher is getting testy as his Giants continued their slump. Just before last night's eighth straight loss, he boiled over to newsmen covering the club.

Asked to explain his benching of Second Baseman Eddie Stanky for Rookie Artie Wilson, Durocher said:

"That's All"

"Wilson is playing second, that's all. Too many writers distort what I have to say so I'm not explaining anything any more."

Stanky or Wilson. It made no difference. They lost just the same.

Johnny Sain shut out the Giants, 3-0, with six hits as Boston spoiled Sal Maglie's 34th birthday. A two-run homer by Roy Hartsfield, followed by Sam Jethroe's fifth home run, broke open a scoreless game in the eighth inning.

It was Sain's 100th victory in the majors and No. 1 of the new season.

Robin Roberts hoisted the champion Philadelphia Phils into a first place percentage tie with the idle St. Louis Cards by whipping Brooklyn, 2-0. The Phils made only three hits count while the Dodgers wasted eight.

Red Birds Topped By Kansas City

By The Associated Press

Rookie Rex Jones, a right-hander up from Beaumont, Tex., made his debut with Kansas City a seven-hit winning chore Thursday night, beating Columbus, 6-0. The win sent the Blue into a second-place tie with Toledo in the American Association leadership tug-o-war.

Jones, replacing sore-armed Dick Carr in the second inning, struck out four and allowed only three Bird runners to get as far as second.

Milwaukee regained the lead by a ½ game edge by downing Toledo, 9-5, in a 10-inning series finale.

Louisville tripped Minneapolis, 5-4, on the rescue work of Gordon Mueller. He went to the mound with the bases full in the ninth, walked pinch-hitter Mike Natisin, then retired the side.

In an exhibition game at Indianapolis, the Cleveland Indians romped over their farm club, 7-1, before 9,013.

CALL HIM SHORTY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (AP)—Members of the Harvard tennis team refer to their captain, Robert Bramhall of Fort Smith, Ark., as "Shorty." He is six-feet-one. The doubles teams probably will line up like this: Charles Ufford, six-feet-four ¾ and Art French, six-feet-three; Bramhall, six-feet-one and Jerry Goodman, six-feet-four; Dave Watts, six-feet-five and Bayard Robb, six-feet- three.

Beau Bested By Akron's Delaney

AKRON, O., April 27—(AP)—Akron's Ronnie Delaney decisioned middleweight Jimmy Beau of New Cannon, Conn. in a 10-round feature bout before 3,000 fans at the arena here last night.

Delaney, 154, injured his right hand in the seventh, but a big point margin he got in the earlier rounds was too much for the 162-pound Beau to overcome.

In a preliminary bout, Warren's Lalo Sabotin slashed away at Billy Pozzo of Elwood City, Pa for eight rounds and took the decision.

Other results:

John Hobart, 162, Niles, tko'd Bob Scott, 160, Akron, three; Joey Greenwood, 135, Akron, kayoed Morris Tibbs, 136, Columbus, 2:20 of the first; and Roy Carruthers, 141, Akron, tko'd Dan Pinto, 146, Columbus, five.

Marionette Show for Children To Be Presented Tomorrow

Children of the Marion area will be entertained tomorrow when a Marionette show, "The Glowing Bird" is presented at the Palace Theater by the Tatterman Players of the Western College for Women in Oxford, O. The show is being sponsored by the Junior Service Guild. Two performances, one at 9:30 a.m. and one at 12 noon will be given.

The story of "Glowing Bird," is one that has always delighted children. It is a Russian folk tale about a king who had a tree which bore 40 golden apples. The apples began to disappear, and when even the guard fell asleep while guarding them, the king became quite upset.

However, it was soon discovered that the apples were being stolen by a glowing bird, which was under the spell of an old wizard. After many adventures and amusing incidents, the glowing bird is rescued from the wizard, along with a beautiful princess.

However, the villan of the story steps in, and trys to help the wizard capture the hero. Due to the antics of a bear, who has been befriended by the hero, good fortune comes to all in the end, and the hero is awarded both the princess and the kingdom.

Suspense of the play involves the wizard, who, it seems, does not live in a body, but in space. Just where his space is, is kept a secret until almost the final curtain.

Following each performance a backstage demonstration will take place. During this demonstration the children will be able to see how the Marionettes are handled, and operated by the players, and what goes on behind the scenes.

The price of admission for each performance is 35 cents for children and 50 cents for adults. Tickes are limited to 1,000 seats per performance.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Laxative Drugs Often Abused

One of the greatest of current abuses is that of the laxative drugs. It has gone on for years and it still continues despite all attempts to educate people to a better way of handling the problem of constipation.

So many people have a fixed idea that a daily bowel movement is absolutely necessary for good health. This is not true and its falsity has been proved over and over again, but to no avail. Despite all scientific demonstration to the contrary, people continue to believe that toxic wastes are absorbed by the bowel and continue to take unnecessary laxatives.

Unfortunately once this habit is estabished, stronger and stronger remedies are needed and, before long, severe bowel irritation occurs.

The laxative habit may start often-times during a hospital stay. A mild degree of constipation, due to inactivity, is natural for persons confined to bed, but this is forgotten, and the patient is given a laxative so that he may have a daily bowel movement. The acutely ill patient may only be made worse in many instances by the strain of emptying the bowels, as a result of the administration of harsh purgatives. Often, in addition to laxatives, enemas or the injection of fluids into the lower bowel may be employed. Enemas are useful when a real indication exists for them. However, this indication is unusual in people with a normal colon.

When enemas are used, so often the material employed for making the enema is glycerin or soap. Both of these substances are extremely irritating to the lining membrane of the bowel, and their frequent use may lead to long-continued inflammation.

Constipation may be corrected by proper diet, taking plenty of fluids exercising and forming the proper habit. The new preparations, such as methylcellulose, have been quite helpful in bringing temporary relief until the condition is permanently overcome. Constipation may often only be made worse by the abuse of laxatives and enemas.

Smog From Industry Said World Hazard

CINCINNATI, O.—(UP)—Polluted city air resulting from industry is growing into a world-wide health hazard, Dr. Clarence A. Mills, of the University of Cincinnati, warns.

Dr. Mills, a crusader against air pollution, is head of the university's department of experimental medicine.

"The 1948 Donora (Pa.) lethal smog which killed 20 persons was nothing compared to the hundreds of excess respiratory deaths that take place in the dirty parts of our cities every year," he said.

Deaths Reported

Dr. Mills is consultant to the California legislative committee on water and air pollution and is compiling statistics on Los Angeles County air pollution. Severely smoggy periods of two or more days in that county brought sharp rises in tuberculosis, pneumonia, and heart disease deaths, he reported.

"A total of 335 excess respiratory and cardiac deaths in 60 smoggy days over a three year period indicates a public health problem of considerable magnitude," he concluded from his finding from 1947 to 1949.

For the same period, Chicago had 700 deaths annually from dirty districts; Cleveland, 250; and Cincinnati, 100, Dr. Mills observed.

"Smog does not cause the immediate death of healthy people," he explained. "Smog irritants increase respiratory difficulties of those already ill from such diseases and a few of the acutely ill are pushed across death's threshold."

A good index of the damaging quality of polluted atmosphere is the irritations of the eyes and throats of healthy persons, he added.

Whether repeated exposure through the years leads to respiratory and cardiac difficulties remains an open question, Dr. Mills admitted. He said findings of the United States Public Health Service at Donora indicates that long-term exposure might lead to those diseases.

Senior Circle of C.C.L. Endorses Bond Issue

The school bond issue was endorsed by members of the Senior Circle of the Child Conservation League when they met last week at the home of Mrs. A. N. Austin of Spencer street. Mrs. G. O. Toms was assistant hostess

One new member was welcomed to the group, and plans were discussed for the district meeting of the league to be held in Mt. Vernon May 3. Mrs. Robert Hurley, president, was elected delegate to attend the meeting. Mrs W. E. Orcutt was in charge of the program and presented an article on "Democracy." A discussion followed. During the social hour, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Six hundred newspaper publishers were together in New York all week and none knew all the answers to all our problems . . . that's the difference between a publishers convention and a political convention

Bond Issue Endorsed By Kiwanis Club

Superintendent Dickey Explains Need for Passage

The Marion Kiwanis Club, at its weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding, went on record as supporting the new school bond issue.

This action was taken by the club following a talk concerning school conditions as they exist here given by Lester L. Dickey, city school superintendent.

"City schools," Mr. Dickey said, "are everybody's problem." Explaining the reason for the big school program under way now, he said there has been a 20-year period when no schools have been built.

Mr. Dickey told his audience that the increase cost after 1946, has made the present proposed bond issue necessary. He sighted to the club members that other school bond issues are being passed in surrounding communities and cities throughout the country.

He explained that if the current issue fails, it might mean that 50 students would have to be assigned to one class and half-day classes would be held.

Stressing what the bond issue would do in Marion, Mr. Dickey said it would build a new senior high school, would convert Harding to a junior high school, provide a lunch room at Edison Junior High School, create a physical education program at the North State Street School, and provide for additions to elementary schools.

Mr. Dickey explained that the board will let contracts just as soon as the bond issue is passed.

Mr. Dickey was introduced by Edwin L. Mitchell, program chairman for the day.

Guests of the club were Peter Leonelli of Columbus and Dr. H. W. Baldwin of Wallingford, Conn.

Galion Council Paves Way For Federal Aid

Grants Totaling $32,100 Would Be Used on Airport

Special to The Star

GALION, April 27—At a special meeting of City Council Tuesday night, rules were suspended to pass legislation which paves the way to receive two federal grants totaling $32,100 for completion of the Galion-Crestline Municipal airport project.

The ordinance passed for this project accepts and approves plans, specifications and estimates now on file for the airport and authorizes the director of public service to advertise for bids for the improvement.

The second ordinance passed authorizes Service Director J. A. Anker to employ a consulting engineer for the airport project. Neither ordinance authorizes expenditures of city funds, but are necessary steps in order to receive the federal grants

Council also passed legislation to establish the position of tile setter at $1.75 an hour. This action was necessary in order to construct the many sanitary sewer projects now underway in the city A fourth ordinance was passed to provide for transfer of city funds.

Rap Truman's Bid To Freeze Farm Parity

Senator Predicts Plan Will Get 'No Place in Congress'

WASHINGTON, April 27 — (AP)—President Truman's proposal to freeze farm parity by the year as a means of tightening food price controls collided with a barrage of farm state opposition in Congress today

On the other hand, Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture, declared the plan looks all right to him and "might be perfectly satisfactory to farmers."

From the protest corner, however, Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate banking committee came up with this prediction: "The parity freeze idea definitely will get no place in Congress."

Maybank's committee and the House banking group will pass on Mr Truman's anti-inflation and general mobilization program, which he outlined to Congress in a special message yesterday.

Revision

The President asked for revision and extension of the present Defense Production Act, which expires June 30. The measure includes wage-price control authority, and the administration wants to bracket into it a broadened rent control program—now covered by a separate law. It, too, expires at the end of June.

Mr. Truman again urged quick action on a separate administration bill to increase taxes $10,000,000,000 as "the most important step of all" toward bringing "the rise in prices and the cost of living to a halt—and hold the line."

That, with the other measures he recommended, the President said, is "an anti-inflation program that will work." He added:

"The world situation could explode at any time, and we must make every day count."

Controversy

Mr. Truman's food price plans appeared to have touched off the sharpest controversy at the capitol, but some of his other proposals also stirred disputes.

For example, lawmakers generally called for a long look at the President's request for authority to let the government build defense plants when private industry is unable or unwilling to do so. In the past, in peacetime, Congress has refused to grant plant construction authority to the government

On the tax hike idea Mr. Truman appeared to have plenty of support in Congress, but whether action on the legislation would be speeded remained to be seen. The bill still is before the house ways and means committee on the first leg of its journey.

The President also called for:

1. Authority to slap credit controls on purchase of existing housing. At present there are controls on only new housing.

2. The right to regulate speculative trading on commodity exchanges.

3. Power to pay government subsidies to obtain essential production from high-cost sources of supply, without increasing price ceilings

4. Authority to continue residential rent control and impose it as well on some commercial buildings and in additional areas—regions where the defense production impact puts housing at a premium In effect, there could be a rent rollback in newly controlled areas to the levels of last Jan. 25.

5. Tightening of the price control enforcement provisions. The enforcement should, the President said, "be tough and aggressive."

Identical bills to carry out the President's program were introduced in the House and Senate. The Senate banking committee will start public hearings May 7 Hearings before the House banking group will commence the next day.

OBSERVE ARBOR DAY

BUCYRUS — A tree will be planted Friday on the lawn at Bucyrus High school as part of the state-wide observance of Arbor Day. High School Principal Edwin E Gearhart reported today. The students are preparing talks on conservation to be heard over the school's public address system, Mr. Gearhart announced.

Annual report was made out to be presented at the district conference at Mt. Vernon May 3. Auditing committee was appointed, including Mrs. Don Harraman from the Child Life Circle and Mrs Robert Wilson of Child Research Circle. The last open meeting of the season was announced for May, with a covered dish dinner. Final plans are to be completed later.

Tough on Socialists

THE Labor party furor in England may help to clear up the furor here at home over union control of the mobilization program.

In each case, the excitement was sparked off by a clash with a strong mobilization policy. The Bevan faction in Britain's Labor party claims that Charles E. Wilson's policy of boosting U. S. military production and civilian production simultaneously is going to hamstring English production for civilian use and make labor's welfare state program look even sicker than it looks now. There won't be enough raw materials to go around, insist the Bevanists.

Meanwhile, in this country the united labor policy committee, which is making a bid for big union control of mobilization, is making no secret of its aim to drive Mr. Wilson out of Washington and of all control over mobilization policy. Washington newsmen have obtained no plausible reason for this vendetta against an industrialist anxious to serve the country in a thankless job.

The newsmen might ask members of the united labor policy committee about Mr. Wilson's credo that U. S. capitalism can perform a miracle of military production without softening itself up for a going-over by Socialists.

Gentlemen From Michigan

BLAIR MOODY, a first-rate Washington correspondent, has become the first man of his trade to jump directly from the Senate press gallery to a seat in the Senate itself.

His appointment to fill out the unexpired term of the late Arthur H. Vandenberg surprised everybody, except Governor Williams. The governor was under severe pressure from his political supporters in Michigan to name someone who would be a reliable ax-grinder. Walter Reuther, the unionist, had been mentioned prominently. The C.I.O. comes close to holding the balance of power in Michigan politics.

Governor Williams was in a political dilemma. He has transferred the dilemma to all the people who put pressure on him. It's up to them to figure out what is going to happen now. Senator Moody knows all about politics as an acute and experienced observer. But he has no party ties. He is under no obligation to anyone. Though his appointment makes him a nominal Democrat, he cheerfully admits he might just as easily have become a nominal Republican.

Newsmen will keep their eye on the gentleman from Michigan. Is it politics that keeps politicians from being objective, or is it because so few politicians ever wanted to be objective in the first place?

Most of the Answer

A SURVEY of TV-owning families by Encyclopedia Britannica turns up the curious statistic that 40 percent of them have been spending more than 40 hours a week at screenside.

Since this is more than the time put in under the 40-hour limit on a work week at straight-time wages, most of the answer to the problem of leisure time created by the 40-hour limit is in sight.

There are 168 hours in a week. If 40 hours are spent at work, 40 at screenside, 56 asleep and 14 at the table, for a total of 150, that leaves only 18 unaccounted for. The leisure-time problem has disappeared.

Example of Government by Edict

THE Federal Communications Commission, one of the executive agencies which sometimes has been accused of practicing government by edict, has staged a demonstration of that dangerous practice.

It has instructed the moving picture industry that its applications for television licenses will be judged on a basis of whether or not the applicants have been willing to make available to the television industry the motion pictures and movie performers sought by that industry.

This means that motion picture producers seeking TV licenses must qualify themselves before the FCC by giving a helping hand to their already established competitors in the television industry. The government-by-edict angle in the FCC's position is contained in this statement:

"We express no opinion at this time as to whether such practices are or are not in violation of the anti-trust laws. We do desire, however, to point out that whether or not these practices are a violation of any law, they are considered by the commission to be relevant in determining the qualifications of applicants utilizing such practices."

Or in plainer language, the FCC is going to make its own law. That is the essence of government by edict. Congress, it would appear, needs to start another investigation, to find out what has happened to government by law in the FCC.

U. S. Security Problems

By David Lawrence

Pointing To a Defect in Governmental System

WASHINGTON

IS ANYBODY in the government really thinking about the over-all problems of security of the United States? There is no law on the statute books and no agency of the government which can give an answer to this question and yet it concerns vitally the safety of the American people against attack and against defeat in war.

Theoretically, it is the military departments which have the job of protection — they have the instrumentality — but actually today in America the military cannot make policy or assure security.

LAWRENCE

Theoretically, the "civilian authority" is responsible — but there is no such institution in Washington today which is concerned exclusively with the task of safeguarding the security of the United States.

Theoretically, the President of the United States, as the Commander-in-Chief, is looked upon as the man responsible for the nation's security. But he does not and cannot give his whole time to the job. Indeed, there is no specific mandate of law which allows the military men to make the policies that are so closely related to military security.

This amazing defect in America's governmental structure was on the minds of some of our military men during the last war and they thought that; by establishing a National Security Council, the United States would at last have a board or agency which could make long-range plans for the security of the country. But the present law does not include any military men in the set-up of the council.

THE MEMBERS are the President, the vice president, the secretary of state, the secretary of defense, and the chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Yet this all-important agency, with not a single member giving full-time attention to the work, has the tremendous duty of executing the following mandate as expressed in the National Security Act of 1949:

". . . It shall, subject to the direction of the President, be the duty of the council—

"(1) To assess and appraise the objectives, commitments, and risks of the United States in relation to our actual and potential military power, in the interest of national security, and to make recommendations to the President in connection therewith; and

"(2) To consider policies on matters of common interest to the departments and agencies of the government concerned with the national security, and to make recommendations to the President in connection therewith. . ."

The National Security Council hardly ever met before the outbreak in Korea and has met only occasionally since then. Until just recently it didn't have a full-time director or a staff.

AMERICAN POLICY, as it relates to our security, has been the subject of considerable debate in Congress these last few days but there is no evidence that an American long-range policy to safeguard national security was ever resolved by the National Security Council.

What is more distressing, moreover, is that the principal military advisers of the government—the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—have no statutory connection with the very agency that is supposed to be responsible for safeguarding the security of the United States.

Apparently what has happened is that President Truman has abdicated his major responsibility for the security of the United States and has allowed the Department of State, under the vague heading "foreign policy," to determine what ought really to be determined by the military officers of the government. The safety of America is assured or endangered today only as the Department of State may decide an issue. The amount of military forces to be raised or the use of those forces, and even the weapons such forces shall use and whether they shall attack or stand still and allow our armed forces to be bombed are policies decided by the Department of State.

This is the "civilian authority" which so many prominent Democrats in Congress are espousing today, but which they will not espouse very long when their constituents eventually learn that military men have really nothing to say under our statutes about the policies that mean protection or weakness in our security.

GENERAL MACARTHUR has raised some substantial issues. He is supposed to have been unable —according to Mr. Truman—to give wholehearted support to the policies of the United States and the United Nations. Yet there is nobody in the White House or in the executive departments or in Congress today who can define those policies and show what they were or when they were approved by any statutory body charged with that responsibility. All that can be shown is that a few meetings of the National Security Council were held by members who gave incidental attention to it in connection with their numerous other duties.

What America needs is a national security council with military representation on it and one that will be above any one department of the government. Three full-time civilian members of outstanding ability should be added. The secretary of state should, of course, be on it and civilians should dominate it. The state department, however, should not be the sole maker—as it is today—of important policies directly bearing on the future security and safety of the United States.

Meaningless Worry Over Words

By George E. Sokolsky

WILLIAM I. NICHOLS, editor of "This Week" magazine, wants a new word for capitalism." The assumption is that words really matter. Call "capitalism" or "communism" or "socialism" by any other name and nothing has been changed. It is like switching from "New Deal" to "Fair Deal." What real change occurred?

Nichols says in his article that propagandists are able to make a good case against communism, but, when it comes to capitalism, he quotes a top official of "our overseas information program" as saying:

SOKOLSKY

"But it's nowhere near as easy to make the good side of our society plain by using the word capitalism. That's important. We need a word to make people realize that the real source of hope, progress and prosperity rests with us."

According to Nichols, American business leaders say:

"We only muddle our own thinking when we use old words to describe new ideas."

I wonder whether it is true that we are dealing with new ideas or old words. The word "capitalism" is comparatively new—just a century old, but the idea has been eternal in the human race, namely, that an individual is entitled to the use of his earnings from whatever source, to spend, to invest, to create new wealth, or to give away.

CAPITALISM functions best when the surplus over the cost of living is invested in the creation of additional wealth. Thus, the savings of millions of human beings have gone into the development of privately owned farms, factories, mills, mines, stores, and into the invention of new devices, commodities, and services.

This is the general nature of capitalism, the most usual process of economics throughout history. Capitalism, however, must be associated with human freedom. Limitations of human freedom can only be sanctioned and implemented by government. When government abolishes freedom, despotism, autocracy, slavery, serfdom come into existence. Also the private ownership of wealth disappears.

When the means of production, distribution, and exchange are owned by the government, the freedoms of the individual are limited. If they cease to exist altogether, a socialized state arises in which slavery may be normal.

SOCIALISTS dislike the statement that their advocacy of government ownership by democratic processes can only lead to government ownership by tyranny. But this has proved to be true in many countries of Europe. No matter how a so-called people's government starts, it becomes in time a Communist government.

Human freedom is a delicate system which requires the most careful balance between rights and responsibilities, between authority and obligation. Once this balance is upset, freedom diminishes and even disappears and in its place appears increasing state control, management and sometimes ownership of the economic process. The reaction to that may be revolution.

Therefore, the problem which Mr. Nichols poses has nothing to do with what word is used to describe capitalism, but what vigilance is employed to protect freedom. For capitalism is only a manifestation of freedom, one of many manifestations of freedom.

THE PROBLEM then is freedom, that is, the right of the individual to live his own life in liberty as a characteristic of humanity—a characteristic produced by no philosopher or tyrant or ruler, nor even by a constitution or parliament or Congress, but by "nature's God and nature's law." In a word, freedom derives from natural law, that is, from God's revelation to man.

In the effort that is being made by our State Department and the Voice of America and similar activities to "capture" the minds of men, it is not so much that new words need to be used as that old ideas have to be reiterated. Mr. Nichols says:

". . . We know what our 'new capitalism' is producing for us and what it can produce anywhere if given a fair chance. . ."

But there is no new capitalism or old capitalism. There is only a life in which the individual is free to choose his way and form his pattern and there is a life in which the government master s the human being and holds him as a creature who exists for the state alone.

Either that is our story or we have none to tell, for if by the new capitalism is meant such an item as "unemployment has been reduced and controlled and is now a diminishing problem," it actually means nothing, because in Soviet Russia there is no unemployment but there is slavery. We have to deal with fundamentals if we are to make our problems understandable, and our fundamental is freedom.

Something for Freedom

By TRUMAN TWILL

TIME out in the slug-fest with the dirty Reds for a footnote of passing interest.

Despite the most elaborate precautions, including endless miles of barbed wire patrolled by guards who shoot to kill, refugees from countries under Communist domination are wriggling out at the rate of more than 1,200 a month.

That is not an impressive figure by itself, but when it is related to the risk involved in trying to escape from behind the iron curtain it is a sign of boiling discontent.

And when it is related further to the fact no one is trying to get behind the curtain from this side, it sounds like a jail break. It is, in fact, a sign of what is wrong with the hammer-and-sickle business.

That is its built-in handicap of having no appeal to human beings who are not so mad at someone they can be fast-talked into cutting off their nose to spite their face.

There are, unfortunately, a great many human beings mad enough to do just that. Or stupid enough, which is just as bad. But Stalin's scheme for taking advantage of discontent and stupidity is like an older and better known scheme for taking advantage of the donkey and the horse. The product cannot perpetuate itself. It is sterile. Every generation you have to start over.

Stalinism always must find new discontentments and misunderstandings to exploit with one hand while holding a tight rein on its previous captives with the other. And eventually it is going to run out of hands. It does not need to put up barbed wire to keep converts from rushing into captivity; its problem is to keep its captives from running away.

Nothing about the proposition stands up under hard knocks. Its officials spend half their time concealing, the other half compelling. Take away the terror and the thing would fly to pieces of centrifugal force.

All of which is a reminder that one of the most potent weapons in the slug-fest with the dirty Reds is the thing that keeps more than a thousand people a month wriggling out from behind the Iron Curtain.

It is a thing referred to as freedom, and nothing must be allowed to dull its luster. In fact, if for every billion dollars spent to hold the enemies of freedom at bay another billion could be spent to brighten the hope of freedom behind the Iron Curtain, the impact on the Kremlin would make the biggest atomic bombs seem like popguns by comparison.

The Methodists were generally first on the ground of pioneer settlement, and at that early day were more demonstrative in their devotions than in later years. Pulpit oratory was also more full of action and fraught with soaring flights, while the grammatical dress was thought of but little. Family worship, especially among the pioneer Methodists and United Brethren, partook of the zealous fervency of their more public devotions.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

To the Editors and Publishers

Twelve hundred newspaper editors and publishers from all over the country are winding up a convention in New York. No group of men do more for less. A publisher is a magnet for complaints, a setup for kibitzers and an all-year target for inappreciation. He takes one of the most complicated jobs in the field of public service with nothing guaranteed him except high blood pressure, an early nervous breakdown and a nonstop supply of sleepless nights.

PHILLIPS

A newspaper publisher is a living refutation of the theory that head helmets, nose guards and shin guards are required only in football. His life journey is a trip through a concrete mixer billed as a pleasure cruise.

There are a thousand businesses and professions offering greater profit for less effort, fewer worries, better hours and a lower proportion of nightmares.

He is a producer, a stage director, a script writer and a backer of the only show on earth produced once every 24 hours with no two productions alike. If he hears any applause he is lucky. If he gets an Oscar he is a beneficiary of a rare break. He is a fellow congenitally indifferent to rough going and never so happy as when up against a fresh crisis.

He could get the same bruises playing pro hockey but prefers to get his abrasions on a harder schedule.

An editor is a public benefactor who does it the hard way.

He is a combined crusader, educator, entertainment genius, recorder of events, referee, judge, sleuth, interpreter, showman, guide and information bureau wizard. He is the only death-defying aerial acrobat outside the circus who insists upon working without a net. He is a lifeguard who works under water and likes to prove he can breathe without coming up for air.

An editor is a teacher to whom nobody brings red apples, an information booth director who doesn't take the usual time off for lunch, a bus driver who not only takes fares, issues transfers, drives the vehicle and answers foolish questions, but furnishes laughs and tears, and is always accurate with the weather forecast.

His job is to provide a three-ring circus, a public forum, a health service and a super educational program, still giving the ball scores and keeping the births, marriages and deaths up to the minute.

He seldom gets a cheer for conducting a great battle in the public interest, but always can count on being denounced if he has the age wrong in an obituary.

Whatever he does today is gone with the wind; what he does tomorrow keeps him tossing all night tonight.

He is a man who thinks he is having a respite if the barrel in which he goes over the falls is halted for 30 seconds by hitting a protruding rock.

An editor is a guy who has to amuse and fascinate pop and mom without boring junior or the hired gal.

He is a man who thinks he is slipping unless he needs sleeping pills every night, and is sure something is wrong with him if he stops feeling tense.

* * *

We salute both the publishers and the editors in solemn conclave. We hope they enjoy themselves, look both ways before crossing Manhattan traffic and get good seats to the hit musicals. And we shall always think they are in the only profession where bumpers front and rear should be compulsory equipment. Selah!

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK

PURPLE and black—long considered colors for matrons—will be smart for sub-debs this summer.

Designers of tyke's juniors' and teen-agers' dresses are experimenting in dark shades for their young customers. And watching reactions from mothers.

One manufacturer reported: "As long as there are mothers there'll probably always be complaints that 'black is to old for my daughter."

"But we're trying to overcome the outworn theory on the basis that dark colors are far more practical for young people because they don't show soil. Purple is especially pretty on youngsters, because they have the colorful complexions that can set it off.

"On mature women, on the other hand, purple often looks drab.

Manufacturers report that the deep shades are getting gradual acceptance for spring and summer, and may continue as big colors in the junior sets for autumn.

SET PAYMENT TOTAL

MARYSVILLE — Unemployed workers in Marysville received $5,290 in unemployment compensation during March, Carl F. Rogers, manager of the local Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, said today. The payments went to claimants drawing benefits under both the Ohio law and veterans eligible for servicemen's readjustment allowances under the federal G. I. bill of Rights, Mr. Rogers added.
